NOT A SINGLE ARREST FOR DRUNKENNESS YESTERDAY

There was not a single arrest in Honolulu yesterday for drunkenness. Clearly High Sheriff Henry has made a success of the enforcement of the Sunday law. This is only the third Sunday of the enforcement of the law and the record so far is without precedent in the history of the city.

Work at the police station was not very brisk yesterday. Six gamblers, most of them Porto Ricans, were taken into custody and another held for investigation. Two Chinese were arrested for keeping open on Sunday. Wo Hing left his horse untied for half an hour and now will have to pay for his carelessness. Another Chinaman, Lee Seoug, had his horse fastened on the sidewalk.

A crazy Chinese woman was brought down by Chas. Long from Maui in the Claudine.

Some Visible After Effects of the Shriner Initiation.

Bismillah! May dogs defile the graves of the fathers of all Glaiours!

In the morning comes soda water and repentance.

If you should happen to see a perfectly reputable citizen, attired in loose clothing and a weary smile, standing around in the street anywhere—the word "standing" is used advisedly—and looking at you in a sheepish kind of way, as though he would ask you to forget it, do not therefore run away with the notion that he has been doing something. He hasn't been. But there has been something doing—and he was there. He is one of those confiding ones who has just been initiated in the Mystic Shrine.

It is said, and there is strong circumstantial evidence of the truth of the statement, that the sands of the desert were very hot on Saturday. So were the gads. That, perhaps, accounts for the preference for garments that do not touch—well, anywhere.

And, of course, a gentleman and a Noble has a perfect right to stand up—even to eat his meals standing up if he prefers to do that. It is a right that accrues to every freeborn male American in his extreme youth. This right, it is believed, had its inception in the disposition of the boy's mother to employ her slipper for a purpose for which it was never designed by the shoe-maker, but for which, in the maternal purview, it is nevertheless admirably adapted. And the boy has not sacrificed the right by the mere lapse of time incident to ripening into manhood. If you were going to join the Mystic Shrine you would be glad that he hadn't, too.

The town was full of strange rumors yesterday concerning what happened to Saturday's initiates. A great shuddering horror, in fact, brooded over Honolulu from the time that the procession and the camel entered the dim portal of the Shrine. But nobody on the outside really knows what happened to the novices. The unbeliever has no means of knowing. He can only judge by the results. The results were disastrous. When a large, muscular man is seen to start suddenly at any unexpected noise behind him, however slight, and another large, muscular man of jelly and still another walks with the citizen has the appearance of having been transformed into a quivering mass of graceful, kangaroo-like glide of a person who is doing the egg dance among

THE FUNDAMENTAL LAW OF HAWAII: A NEW LAW BOOK

The Hawaiian Gazette Company, Ltd., announce the publication of a book, edited and indexed by Lorrin A. Thurston, containing the several constitutions and other fundamental laws of earlier days, the annexation treaty, resolutions and procedure and the Organic Act.

The book contains 298 pages of text and 138 pages of index. It is printed in regulation law book type and style and is substantially bound in calf skin.

The price is $5.

The scope and character of the book and the reasons for its publication are given in the preface, which is as follows:

PREFACE TO THE FUNDAMENTAL LAW OF HAWAII.

Congress has expressly enacted a law organizing Hawaii into a Territory, and extended the provisions of the United States Constitution to the Territory.

In a restricted sense, therefore, the United States Constitution and the Organic Act constitute Hawaii's fundamental law; but the Organic Act specifically re-enacts the great body of pre-existing Hawaiian statute law, which was based upon the several Hawaiian Constitutions and organic laws.

A large proportion of the law governing real estate, property and personal rights in Hawaii being based upon these early constitutions and laws; and precedents, decisions and court practice having grown out of them, it is necessary to consult them in order to have a comprehensive understanding of existing Hawaiian law. They are nearly all published, however, in books now out of print, and in scattered volumes, inaccessible to many, and inconveniently located for all. In fact, not even practicing lawyers in Hawaii can, except at considerable loss of time, place their hands on the laws and constitutions necessary for the study and decision of practical questions continually being presented to them.

Under these circumstances it is believed that the public interest requires the re-publication in convenient reference form of what may be called "the fundamental law of Hawaii." To meet this requirement the following constitutions, laws and documents have been compiled under the common title of "The Fundamental Law of Hawaii," viz.:

1. The first Constitution of Kamehameha III, 1840, including the previously issued Bill of Rights.
2. The first laws of Hawaii, enacted under Kamehameha III, (1833-1842), published together in 1842.
3. The law creating and principles guiding the Land Commission.
4. The second Constitution of Kamehameha III, 1852.

5. The Constitution of Kamehameha V, 1864.

6. The Constitution of Kalakaua, 1887.

7. The Proclamation and orders incident to the establishment of the Provisional Government, 1893.

8. The Constitution of the Republic of Hawaii, 1894.

9. The treaty annexing Hawaii to the United States, 1897.

10. The Resolution of the Hawaiian Senate ratifying the annexation treaty, 1897.

11. The Joint Resolution of Congress annexing Hawaii, 1898.

12. The documents and procedure incident to the transfer of the sovereignty and possession of Hawaii to the United States, 1898; and the executive orders of President McKinley relating to the government of Hawaii, issued during the transition period between the date of annexation and the passage of the Organic Act, 1898-1900.

13. The Act of Congress organizing Hawaii into a Territory, 1900.

The laws of 1842 are not "fundamental" in the sense that the constitutions and other laws and documents are; but they have been included herein for the reason that they were not only the first written laws of Hawaii, but embodied many of the pre-existing laws and customs of the country and therefore throw a strong light upon the origin and development of much of the present law.

Only a few of the laws, constitutions and documents re-published, have ever been indexed. A full index of all of them is included herein. Instead of one general index, each is indexed separately. The reason for such treatment is that reference will usually be desired to a given subject in some one law or constitution. The subject sought will be much easier found in the short index of the particular law, than it would have been in a necessarily long index of the whole.

The table of contents gives the page of each constitution and law and of its index.
